ST CHARLES INSTALLS LATEST VERSION OF EOS SOLUTION

(Carlsbad, CA – March 26, 2008) The award-winning library services and knowledge management company, EOS International, is pleased to announce the installation of EOS.Web at St Charles Catholic Sixth Form College in London, United Kingdom. The installation continues a decades-long relationship between the two institutions.

St Charles is a college preparatory school in London, serving students between sixteen and nineteen years old. The library's upgrade to their library automation program was dictated by their increasingly popular virtual learning environments (VLEs), a web-based education offering. The VLEs led to an increased demand for the St Charles library materials by patrons both after library hours and away from the library site. This shift in the learning environment demanded the full web functionality provided by EOS.Web. "When we started to use our VLE, we needed to move to full web-based library services model," stated Brenda Lattimer, St Charles College Librarian and VLE Manager. "EOS.Web provided us with the ideal solution to meet that need."

"EOS is pleased to continue our long-standing relationship with St Charles," said Tony Saadat, CEO of EOS International. "Our many clients continue to choose new EOS solutions to fulfill all of their future knowledge management needs."
