EOS INTERNATIONAL TO ATTEND 103rd AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF LAW LIBRARIES CONFERENCE

EOS will exhibit and host two events at this year's AALL Event

(Carlsbad, CA – July 1, 2010) EOS International, a leader in library automation and Software-as-a-Service (SaaS), announced that it will exhibit at this year's American Association of Law Libraries (AALL) conference, taking place in Denver, CO, July 11 – 13, 2010. In addition to being an exhibitor, EOS will also host a Luncheon Seminar for potential clients interested in learning more about EOS International, its products and services, and a Client Reception on Sunday, July 11, 2010.

EOS International will be exhibiting at booth #810, where conference attendees can meet with an EOS representative for a one-on-one discussion about the latest developments in library automation and knowledge management technology for law firms.

Vice President of Global Sales and Marketing, Salvatore Provenza states, "As a leading vendor to the legal library community, we participate in the AALL Annual Conference each year to show our support for the industry. We are proud to have the largest percentage of top 250 US legal firm libraries using our product. Our presence at AALL provides us the opportunity to personally demonstrate our latest enhancements for our valued clients and to show prospects the amazing benefits of becoming an EOS client!"

The EOS International Luncheon Seminar will take place on July 11, 2010 at 1:15pm in the Centennial Ballroom E of the Hyatt Regency Denver Hotel. This event is designed for individuals interested in learning more about EOS International and the products and services it has to offer law libraries. EOS will also host a Client Reception specifically for clients to meet for an evening of refreshments and discussions about the latest enhancements to their EOS.Web products, as well as how EOS.Web is helping to improve their library's capabilities. This will be held from 6:30pm-8:00pm in the Mineral D Room of the Hyatt Regency Denver Hotel.
