EOS International to Attend American Association of Law Libraries Conference

(Carlsbad, CA – July 5, 2011) EOS International, a leader in library automation and cloud computing, announced that it will exhibit at this year's American Association of Law Libraries (AALL) Conference, taking place in Philadelphia, PA, July 23– 26, 2011. In addition to being an exhibitor, EOS will also host a Luncheon Seminar for potential clients interested in learning about EOS.Web Digital, a complete, cost-effective suite of software designed to enable you to easily manage today's incredible amount of varied content, and a Client Reception for clients to meet for an evening of refreshments and discussions about the latest enhancements to their EOS.Web products, as well as how EOS.Web is helping to improve their library's capabilities.

EOS International will be exhibiting at booth #604, where conference attendees can meet with an EOS representative for a one-on-one discussion about the latest developments in library automation and knowledge management technology for law firms.

Vice President of Global Sales and Marketing, Salvatore Provenza states, "Our presence at AALL provides us the opportunity to personally demonstrate our latest enhancements for our valued clients and to show prospects the amazing benefits of becoming an EOS client!" EOS will be showcasing their new Web OPAC Discovery product during AALL.

The EOS International Luncheon Seminar will take place on July 25, 2011 at 12:00pm in the Independence Ballroom Salon 2/3 of the Philadelphia Marriott. Our EOS Seminar will feature special guest speaker and valued client, Steve Lastres from Debevoise & Plimpton LLP. EOS will also host a Client Reception that will be held from 6:00pm-7:30pm in the 414/415 Room of the Philadelphia Marriott.

Attend the EOS Luncheon Seminar or Client Reception and ask us how you can receive a free copy of EOS's new 300+ page book, "The Digital Library Survival Guide".
